

Enterprise Email Production

Cutting-Edge Email Experiences at Scale

Dyspatch is an email production platform designed to help Enterprise teams create and change transactional email content fast.

Dyspatch empowers Marketing, Product, Development, and CX teams to collaborate seamlessly on email production, giving them the flexibility to test and iterate on email content.

The result is transactional email content that is constantly evolving to provide exceptional experiences that improve customer engagement and increase revenue.

Create great templates in minutes, not months

Send with confidence across all devices and recipients

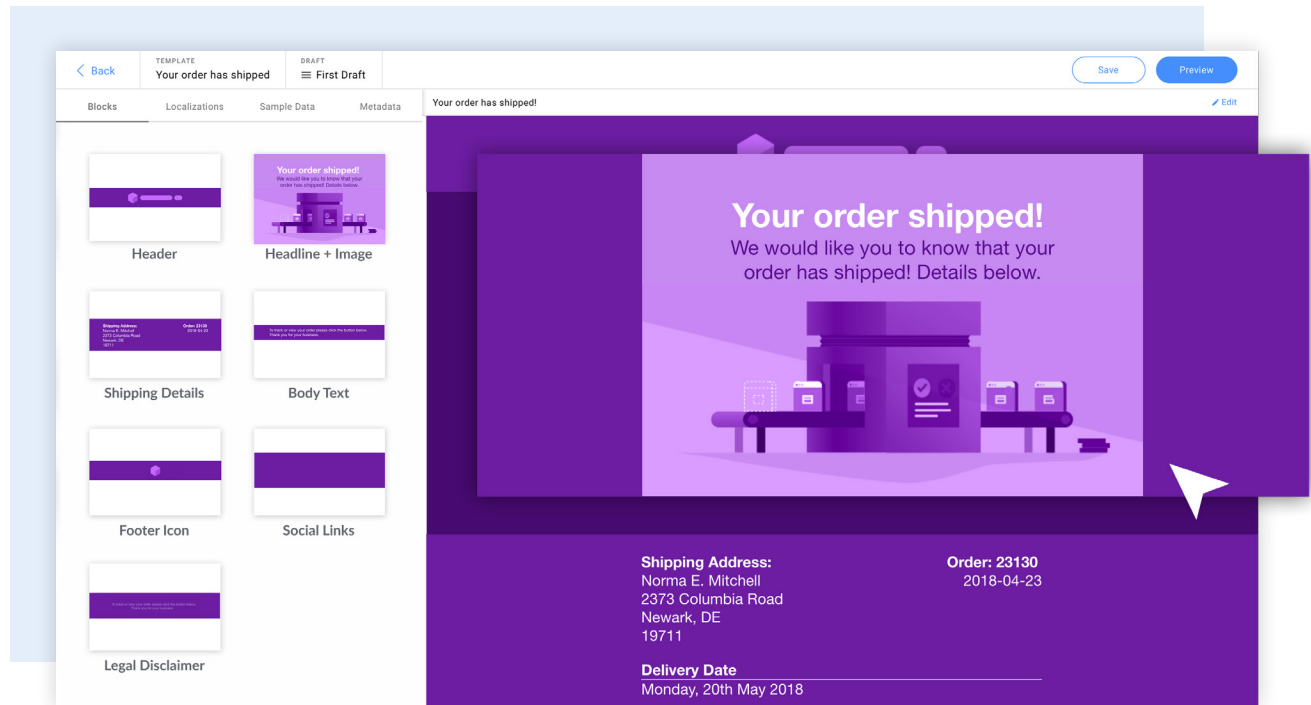

Organization-wide collaboration & consistency

Enterprise-grade Security & Compliance

Harness the Untapped Potential of Transactional Email

Dyspatch's easy-to-use visual editor allows your teams to develop reusable templates with dynamic, interchangeable components. Users of all skill levels can create and edit complex email templates with drag & drop content blocks — even users who aren't HTML experts.

With Dyspatch:

Product & Marketing Teams can create and update emails quickly:

- Time-to-market measured in days, not months

Design teams can establish consistent branding:

- For all email, across all devices, and for every recipient

Development teams can count on a robust integration that supports automation and scale:

- Smart, dynamic content and powerful APIs

Legal teams can lock-down compliance with confidence:

- Unsubscribes, sender information, copyrights, etc.
- Recipient PII stays within your system

